

SUCCESS STORY

“TURNING A GRAY DAY INTO A GREAT ONE”

At our April 11th Demo Day at Magnuson Park, the day started off looking fairly bleak – it was rainy, windy and cold– not what we were hoping for, to be sure! It was too wet to safely go rock climbing and too choppy on Lake Washington for canoeing. Regardless of the conditions, though, the weather wasn't going to dampen the spirits of the participants and their family members and volunteers who showed up to make the day a success.

Here's an email that we received from a participant, Toni Lynch, that we met on April 11th, 2009. Her words (and the attached photos) tell the whole story:

Hi –

I'm so glad we came today! You were all so helpful. I figured we'd try the hand cycles and that would be all but I'm so glad I tried the rock (tree) climbing!

I've never been one to try things so this was a good step for me - what a great feeling!

Thanks to Jeff and Shelia for setting it all up and for your patience with me. I would love to see the pictures taken of me both on the bike and up the tree.

Thanks for turning a gray day into a great one-

Toni Lynch

So thank you to all the volunteers who came out (rain or shine) to make this a memorable day for not only Toni but all others that braved the inclement weather!
